

I am a HAM radio operator and against broad band signals sent on phone lines interference is bad enough already .We certainly dont need another form of interference emanating from phone lines to radios etc.